

2026 Health Plan Compliance Deadlines

Throughout the year, employers must comply with numerous reporting and disclosure requirements related to their group health plans. This Compliance Overview identifies key 2026 compliance deadlines for employer-sponsored group health plans. It also outlines group health plan notices employers must provide each year.

Some compliance deadlines summarized below are tied to a group health plan's plan year. For these requirements, the chart below shows the deadline that applies to calendar-year plans. For noncalendar-year plans, these deadlines will need to be adjusted to reflect each plan's specific plan year.

Determining the Plan Year

The "plan year" is the calendar, policy or fiscal year on which the records of the plan are kept. Many employers operate their group health plans on a calendar-year basis from Jan. 1 through Dec. 31 of each year. Other employers operate their plans on a noncalendar-year basis, which may be consistent with the company's taxable year or with an insured plan's policy year.

Annual Notices

Notice	Applicability	Description
SBC	Group health plans and health insurance issuers	Group health plans and health insurance issuers are required to provide a Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC) to applicants and enrollees each year at open enrollment or renewal time. The issuer for fully insured plans usually prepares the SBC. If the issuer prepares the SBC, an employer is not also required to prepare an SBC for the health plan, although the employer may need to distribute the SBC prepared by the issuer. Federal agencies have provided a template for the SBC, which health plans and issuers are required to use.
WHCRA notice	Group health plans that provide medical and surgical benefits for mastectomies	Group health plans must provide a notice about the coverage requirements of the Women’s Health and Cancer Rights Act (WHCRA) at the time of enrollment and on an annual basis after enrollment. The annual WHCRA notice can be provided at any time during the year. Employers often include the annual notice with their open enrollment materials. Employers that redistribute their Summary Plan Descriptions (SPDs) each year can satisfy the annual notice requirement by including the WHCRA notice in their SPDs. Model language is available in the U.S. Department of Labor’s (DOL) compliance assistance guide .
CHIP notice	Group health plans that cover residents in a state that provides a premium assistance subsidy under a Medicaid plan or CHIP	If an employer’s group health plan covers residents in a state that provides a premium subsidy under a Medicaid plan or Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP), the employer must send an annual notice about the available assistance to all employees residing in that state. The DOL has a model notice employers may use. The annual CHIP notice can be provided at any time during the year. Employers often provide the CHIP notice with their open enrollment materials.
SPD	Group health plans subject to ERISA	An SPD must be provided to new health plan participants within 90 days of the start of their plan coverage. Employers may include the SPD in their open enrollment materials to make sure employees who newly enroll receive the SPD on a timely basis. Also, an employer should include the SPD with its enrollment materials if it includes notices required to be provided at the time of enrollment, such as the WHCRA notice. Additionally, an updated SPD must be provided to participants at least every five years if any material modifications have been made during that period. If no material modifications have been made, an updated SPD must be provided at least every 10 years..
SMM	Group health plans subject to ERISA	Under ERISA, a Summary of Material Modifications (SMM) must be provided when there is a material change in the terms of the plan or any change in the information required to be in the SPD. As a general rule, the plan sponsor must provide the SMM within 210 days after the close of the plan year in which the change was adopted. A shorter deadline may

		apply in some circumstances, depending on the nature of the modification or change. If the change is a material reduction in group health plan benefits or services, the deadline for providing the SMM is 60 days after the change is adopted. Also, employers must provide 60 days' advance notice of any material modification to plan terms or coverage that takes effect mid-plan year and affects the content of the plan's SBC. The 60-day notice can be provided to participants through an updated SBC or by issuing an SMM. When plan changes take effect at the beginning of the upcoming plan year, employers may decide to include the SMMs in their open enrollment materials.
COBRA General Notice	Group health plans subject to COBRA	Group health plans must provide a written General Notice of COBRA Rights to covered employees within 90 days after their health plan coverage begins. Employers may include the General Notice in their open enrollment materials to ensure that employees who newly enroll during open enrollment receive the notice on a timely basis. The DOL has a COBRA Model General Notice that can be used by group health plans to meet their notice obligations.
Grandfathered plan notice	Health plans that have grandfathered status under the ACA	To maintain a plan's grandfathered status, the plan sponsor or issuer must include a statement of the plan's grandfathered status in plan materials provided to participants describing the plan's benefits (such as the SPD and open enrollment materials). The DOL has provided a model notice for grandfathered plans.
Notice of patient protections	Group health plans that require the designation of a participating primary care provider	If a health plan requires participants to designate a participating primary care provider, the plan or issuer must provide a notice of patient protections whenever the SPD or similar description of benefits is provided to a participant. This notice is often included in the SPD or benefits booklet provided by the issuer (or otherwise provided with enrollment materials). The DOL has provided a model notice of patient protections for plans and issuers to use.
HIPAA privacy notice	Self-insured group health plans	The HIPAA Privacy Rule requires self-insured health plans to maintain and provide their own privacy notices. Special rules, however, apply for fully insured plans. Under these rules, the health insurance issuer, not the health plan itself, is primarily responsible for the privacy notice. Self-insured health plans are required to send the privacy notice at certain times, including to new enrollees at the time of enrollment. Thus, the privacy notice should be provided with the plan's open enrollment materials. Additionally, at least once every three years, health plans must either update the privacy notice or notify participants that the notice is available and explain how to obtain a copy. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services provides model privacy notices for health plans to choose from.
HIPAA special enrollment notice	All group health plans	At or prior to the time of enrollment, a group health plan must provide each eligible employee with a notice of their special enrollment rights under HIPAA. This notice should be included with the plan's enrollment materials. It is often included in the health plan's SPD or insurance booklet.
Wellness notice - HIPAA	Group health plans with health-contingent wellness programs	Employers with health-contingent wellness programs must provide a notice informing employees of an alternative way to qualify for the program's reward. This notice must be included in all plan materials that describe the terms of the wellness program. If wellness program materials are being distributed at open enrollment (or renewal time), the notice should be included with those materials. Sample language is available in the DOL's compliance assistance guide .
Wellness notice - ADA	Wellness programs that collect information or include medical exams	To comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), wellness plans that collect health information or involve medical exams must provide a notice to employees that explains how the information will be used, collected and kept confidential. Employees must receive this notice before providing any health information and with enough time to decide whether to participate in the program. Employers implementing a wellness program for the upcoming plan year should include this notice in their open enrollment materials. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has provided a sample notice for employers to use.
